LUTHERAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY,

GETTYSBURG, PA.

1877.

GETTYSBURG:
PRINTED AT THE "STAR AND SENTINEL" OFFICE.
1877.

TO THE READER.

THE following list of books, &c., has been prepared in accordance with the instructions of the Lutheran Historical Society at its last regular meeting at Carthage, Ill

In ordering this publication the Society was not prompted by a desire to make a display of its treasures, for it is well aware that its collection of American Lutheran publications is very meagre Its motive was indeed just the opposite, viz: to reveal its wants and to appeal to those who are able, and will probably be willing, to supply them.

Understanding this to be the design of the Society, the Curator has not attempted the preparation of a full descriptive catalogue; but has indicated the titles as briefly as possible, hoping that the respective and respected authors will take pleasure in supplementing our list of their productions, in anticipation of a more complete and satisfactory catalogue by and by.

Had the Society the necessary means at its disposal, it would at once adopt the far more agreeable method of filling up the gaps upon its shelves by purchasing all the publications of Lutheran divines and laymen in our country. But it can now do no better than to issue this appeal to our American Lutheran authors, and indulge the hope that they will be willing to place their productions side by side in our custody for the use of the coming historian of our Church in this country.

It will be seen that we have quite a fair beginning of a collection of portraits of American Lutheran clergymen and laymen, photographs of churches, synods, &c. We hope to see this largely increased.

Our collection of synodical minutes is now very valuable, but a glance will show that it is still sadly defective. The missing years can readily be recognized in the following statement; and may we not hope that very many of them will be supplied by brethren of the respective synods who have duplicates of these minutes, or who may be willing, for the sake of the Church, to part with some of their old documents.

And the request, made by the Society, is herewith again respectfully and urgently presented, that the Secretaries of the various synods forward copies of their annual minutes regularly to the Curator of the Society.

CHARLES A. HAY,
